

UNIVERSITY of NEW HAMPSHIRE

Assistant Professor of Civil Technology

The Civil Technology Program at the Thompson School of Applied Science in the College of Life Sciences and Agriculture at the University of New Hampshire is pleased to announce a tenure track position at the Assistant Professor level. The position begins Fall 2008 and the successful individual will be prepared to teach classes in surveying & mapping and computer aided design (CAD). Additionally, outdoor, year-round field laboratories are routine in this Program. Proficiency with AutoCAD 2008, and AutoCAD Land Desktop 2008 or Carlson Survey/Roads 2008 software is important. In addition the development and teaching for courses in construction, civil engineering technology, and architectural technology are also a possibility. Demonstrated ability to work collaboratively with diverse communities is expected. With the environment of quality facilities and equipment, a strong team concept exists in the four-person faculty of Civil Technology. The new faculty member would be a key interactive player on this team.
